The Author, in forwarding to her friends the Volume for which they so kindly subscribed, begs to inform them that it is proposed, if they should continue to oblige her with their names, to publish a second portion of the Work.

It would be desirable that they should state whether or no they wish to be depended upon as subscribers to PART II., at the same time that they remit the subscription price for PART I.

PREFACE.

THE Tribe of which some Figures are here given is so numerous, that in a Work of this character it is not possible to introduce more than a selection. The Author has therefore chosen for notice such specimens mainly as are common to her own neighbourhood in Shropshire, and which make meadow, hill, and valley gay by their abundance.

In these Engravings it is hoped that the purchaser of the Work will recognize many Fungi familiar to him, and be induced to refer to larger and more scientific publications to study their history and uses. For the authorities of the names, and detailed descriptions of the species, the reader is referred to the Rev. M. J. Berkeley's 'Outlines of British Fungology,' the nomenclature of that Author having been adhered to throughout.

This opportunity is taken of thanking those who have kindly given assistance to the Work; and the Author trusts that purchasers may suffer no disappointment when using it as a book of reference so far as it extends.
